

Antiquity Until the Mid 20th Century

Year 80 AD - 1950s U.S.

The genealogy on this page consists of old Nordic legends which evolved into Viking Raiders; they married into royalty in Normandy, conquered England, and by the generation listed and number 44, with Elizabeth Plantagenet, Princess of England, the family fell out of the throne and became progressively less Royal. It has been extended up until modern times.

The records in this document were made possible by Jodie Streit, who shared the Fox family genealogy we mutually possess. My own (Dennis Brumm) great great grandfather, Nathaniel Fox, is Jodie's 3rd great grandfather.

Nathaniel's genealogy was traced back to William the Conqueror (Guillaume de Normandie), who won the Battle of Hastings in 1066 bringing England under Norman rule; by checking records online I first took William's line back to Eystein the Noisy Glumra, who was born in 810. Genealogists believe that Scandinavian legends that trace back further may be rooted in fact or may be only legends, but for fun more than anything else, I traced Eystein back to Godwulf, who was born in 80 AD.

It is said that if one traces back some twenty or thirty generations, virtually everyone is related to each other. Sixty-five generations are traced below; I wouldn't take this page as completely accurate genealogy, but at least as a family group that makes you think of the possibilities!

William the Conqueror changed the course of English history when he won the Battle of Hastings in 1066, opening up the island to Norman conquest. He felt the throne of England should be his but, as he was born out of a liaison between his father, the king, and a servant woman in the royal household, there was some disagreement about his claim.

When William died, his servants robbed his valuables and left him untended to for a week. At that point his body was bloated, and when he was forced into a sarcophagus, he didn't fit and his body literally exploded, bring a foul stench down on the land that was without rival. Finally he was buried.

Generation 38

Henry I Beauclerc, King of England

Born: 1068 in Selby, Yorkshire, England

Died: December 11, 1135 in Gisors, St. Denis, Seine-St. Denis, France

Died: September 07, 1151 in Chateau-du-Loir, Eure-et-Loire, France

Marriage date: May 22, 1127 in Le Mans, Sarthe, France
Matilda's husband, Gottfried, conquered Normandie and then Matilda, the only legitimate child alive of Henry I, invaded England. Evidently her arrogant behavior created more enemies than friends, and she was pushed back into France.

Generation 40

King Henry II "Curtmantle" Plantagenet

Born: March 05, 1132/33 in Le Mans, Sarthe, France

Died: July 06, 1189 in Chinon, Indre-et-Loire, France

Burial: 1189 in Fontevrault, France

Died: April 01, 1204 in l'Abbaye de Fontevrault,

Maine-et-Loire, France

Marriage date: May 18, 1152 in Poitiers, France

The following comments were gleaned from an online web page:

Henry II, first of the Angevin kings, was one of the most effective of all England's monarchs. He came to the throne amid the anarchy of Stephen's reign and promptly collared his errant barons. He refined Norman government and created a capable, self-standing bureaucracy. His energy was equaled only by his ambition and intelligence. Henry survived wars, rebellion, and controversy to successfully rule one of the Middle Ages' most powerful kingdoms.
